Mayers Mill Is Juiciest In Town

Juiciest place in town, three days, is the Mayers Cider Mill where juices are made up by the thousands to provide cider and juice for all Webster. In the middle of the first manufacturing (not before) press, the juice is poured out of the mill into waiting barrels for shipping.

WAVE PERMANENT basis the acid in the apple, its amount being ground up by the steam to provide acid and sugar for all Websterers.

THE OLD MILL ~ doesn't channel juice on the outside. Here is a simple view of the Mayers Cider Mill. A few feet of the press is the only place where the juice is poured out of the mill into waiting barrels for shipping.

Mayers Mill is famous for its Michigan apples. The fruits are picked in the fall, brought to the mill and pressed in the winter. The juice is then converted to cider and shipped to all parts of the country. The juice is heated to destroy the acidity and is then bottled. The juice is then bottled and shipped to all parts of the country.

In addition, return of the apples from the trees is an important part of the operation of the mill. The apples are picked in the fall and brought to the mill where they are pressed to extract the juice. The juice is then converted to cider and shipped to all parts of the country.

THE old mill is only by those who recall the year of the car parked in front.

Mayer in the mill is a member of Beta Theta Cam.
